

Balancing Kapha Dosha Diet:

Ayurvedic texts recommend the principle of opposites for reducing the level of a dosha that has become aggravated. Since the characteristics of Kapha include heaviness, unctuousness, qualities that are opposite to these in diet and lifestyle help restore balance to Kapha dosha.

Dietary recommendations:

The following guidelines are to be utilised as a general indication of a proper diet according to your specific doshic balance. These guidelines may be adjusted to suit your individual needs as determined during your initial consultation. Other factors are seasonal, food allergies, and specific doshic imbalances that must be corrected by diet.

Include a few dry foods in your daily diet to balance the oily nature of Kapha, foods that are nourishing but light to counter the heaviness of Kapha and warm foods with a zing to them to balance the sweet, cold quality of Kapha. So what exactly does this mean in terms of foods you should stay away from? Here are some specific dietary tips:

- 1) If you need to balance Kapha, choose oils such as corn and canola in very small quantities, (maximum of 3 tablespoons/day), as your cooking medium. Ghee, according to the ancient Ayurvedic texts, is cooling for both the mind and body. Ghee is also good in very small quantities, (1/4 teaspoon/dish). Steaming foods and then adding a mixture of spices sautéed in very little ghee, (1/4 teaspoon), is best. In general, avoid too many oily foods.
- 2) Light, warming foods help balance Kapha. Clear vegetable soups with beans and diced vegetables, stews made with Kapha-balancing vegetables, bean casseroles, dhal soups and light grain/vegetable combinations are ideal for balancing kapha, especially when combined with Kapha-balancing spices. Stay away from too much salt and instead infuse dishes with fresh herbs and spices for flavor.
- 3) The three Ayurvedic tastes that help balance Kapha are pungent, bitter and astringent, so include more of these tastes in your daily diet. Apples, garbanzo beans cooked with Kapha-balancing spices or steamed broccoli or cauliflower with a light olive oil and spice mixture make healthy Kapha-pacifying snacks. Eat less of the salty, sweet and sour tastes.
- 4) Dry cereal, salt-free crackers, and rice cakes balance the liquid nature of Kapha dosha, and make good snacks. However, eat snacks in moderation, if you are trying to balance Kapha, and avoid sugary snacks. Honey in small quantities is the recommended sweetener.
- 5) Carrots, asparagus, okra, bitter leafy greens, cruciferous vegetables such as broccoli, cauliflower, and brussels sprouts, daikon radish and bitter melon are good vegetable choices. They become more digestible when chopped and cooked with Kapha-pacifying spices. Vegetables can be combined with lighter grains or mung beans for satisfying one-dish meals. Avoid nightshades, (such as tomato, white potato, eggplant and bell pepper). Fresh green chilli peppers and fresh ginger root add flavor while balancing Kapha.
- 6) Choose lighter whole grains, and eat grains in moderation. Barley, buckwheat, millet and couscous are good choices. If you choose heavier grains, such as rice or wheat, eat very small quantities.

7) Zesty warming spices are wonderful for balancing Kapha. Ayurvedic spices such as turmeric, cumin, coriander, cayenne, black pepper, dried ginger, asafoetida (hing), cloves and fenugreek offer flavor, aroma and healing wisdom.

8) Drink sweet lassi (home made yoghurt drink: blend 1 part yoghurt to 2 parts cool water, and sweeten with maple syrup or raw sugar), with lunch to help enhance digestion and cool, not ice-cold water to quench thirst, and plenty of warm water through the day to help flush toxins from the body.
